

Interactive DVD

Wooding Design provided art direction and graphic production services for this interactive language learning product poised to compete with Rosetta Stone. The product is designed to be intuitive, entertaining and interactive, complete with voice recognition that allows the learner to have conversations with characters in the videos.

